Free to readers in developing countries, AIDS Action is Healthlink Worldwide's international newsletter on HIV prevention and care. It is aimed at primary level health workers and educators and provides practical information on care and prevention issues concerning HIV and sexual health.

AIDS Action is produced four times a year. There are seven editions in four languages that are produced in collaboration with partners in Africa, Asia-Pacific and Latin America.

Each issue covers a different theme, such as HIV and blood safety, HIV and its impact on health workers and disability and HIV.

AIDS Action is produced by Healthlink Worldwide's AIDS and Sexual Health Programme. The programme provides technical support to projects and networks in information management, producing training and health education materials and regional networking.
